LIGNODUR® - the perfect material

LIGNODUR® is a high-grade wood PVC composite (WPC: wood polymer composite).

Its special formula guarantees a very robust and long lasting end product.

Our products are PEFC certified. For the production of LIGNODUR® internal window boards, we use only local, fast-growing softwoods from sustainable forests. These woods are processed with unmixed polymers into a wood composite material. Imported wood, especially tropical wood, is not used.

In a way that protects natural resources, LIGNODUR® internal window boards are produced in Germany.

All this makes Möller internal window boards an eco-friendly and environmentally responsible product.

LIGNODUR® - tried and tested for over 20 years.

Advantages

The masterline internal window board combines an attractive design with functionality, robustness and easy care.

Its low weight allows for an uncomplicated and quick installation.

It is easy to work with using a conventional carpentry tool. The protective film guarantees safe and easy handling at the construction site.

The processed laminate provides a high-quality appearance. It is non-sensitive and characterised by a high level of UV light resistance.

Due to the hollow chamber profile, our internal window board also has excellent insulating properties (cold bridge).

As such, the masterline offers a host of advantages for designing modern living space.
